WE NOMINATE

Douglass Cater, 36-year old Washington-based journalist, who in months ahead will be carrying forward one of this community's most interesting educational undertakings of the past decade—the first step in Princeton University's gradual development of an interdepartmental program providing "instruction in journalism and public relations." During the first term of the newly launched academic year, some 45 years after Woodrow Wilson inaugurated the Presidential Press Conference, Cater, Washington Editor of Reporter Magazine, will be conducting a series of weekly three-hour seminars in the Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

The establishment of the Ferris Professorship, which Cater will occupy as Visiting Ferris Lecturer, does not mean that Princeton, for centuries a citadel of the liberal arts and sciences, has suddenly decided to introduce a surface, or how-to-do-it, program of study. The newly created chair, made possible by bequests of $500,000 from a New York and Pennsylvania newspaper executive and his widow, connotes that Princeton is according to journalism the status of a profession (for example, medicine or law) and is seeking to determine how it can help journalism face up to its pressing needs for young men carefully trained in liberal studies.

In his Princeton sessions Cater, author of the distinguished "The Fourth Branch of Government," an analysis of the operations of the 1,200-member press corps in the Nation's capital, will not be concerned with pick-and-shovel details of journalism. He will focus on the manner in which the modern-day journalist "assists in the process of policy formulation and execution in both the legislative and executive branches of the Government, through the communication of information and the reflection of public opinion in a democracy."

Indicative of Cater's approach to "matters of state" was his recent, widely applauded article on "How to Tell a Democrat From a Republican." Although insisting that there is a basic difference between two very much alike parties, he looks to the future and states: "It is too early to predict the direction of the political thrust during the decade ahead, or even which party will carry the main burden of that thrust . . . In their search of the past for guides to the future, both Democrats and Republicans are apt to swipe each other's traditions without so much as a word of thanks."

A graduate of Harvard and a Harvard Tutor while qualifying for his degree in the Harvard School of Business Administration, Cater in 1955 received a Guggenheim Fellowship, that enabled him to ponder the interactions of the press and government in Washington, and two years later held an Eisenhower Exchange Fellowship overseas. Over the years Cater, co-author in 1954 with Marquis Childs of "Ethics in a Business Society," has been associated with the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and has handled special assignments for governmental agencies, including the Russian Division of the Office of Strategic Services, the Army and the Mutual Security Administration.

For versatility and demonstrated competence in his chosen field; for qualifying for a pioneering mission in American higher education; for sensing that "understanding of the will of the public" must be reflected in government policy and operations: he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

POLITICAL SEASON OPENS
As Candidates Begin Firing.
Candidates of both Princeton parties this week asked their neighbors to stop, look and listen, offering a variety of statements and suggestions gauged to aid the undecided voter make up his mind by Election Day. Both camps were aware that the independent vote had played a major part in determining the outcome in Borough and Township in recent years and there was accordingly a variety of bait aimed at hooking these all-important ballots.

In the Township, Democratic candidates Henry S. Dyer and Richard T. Frost warned that the present Republican-led governing body was moving too slowly in acquiring Community Gardens land for recreational needs. While agreeing that last spring's appointment of a Recreation Commission was a sound move, the candidates asked for action now.
They charged that:

"Competition for land in our fast-growing community will price recreation off the market unless we take action soon. Subdivision plans are being filed almost every day.
"Acreage goes under the bulldozer and new homes appear with little provision for the organized fun and healthy growth of our children. There is no excuse for Princeton Township to fail to anticipate future needs as so many other communities have done."

Eclipse Friday Morning

An article on Friday's total solar eclipse written by John W. Stewart, a former Princeton-ian and the son of John Q. Stewart, 200 Mercer Street, appears in "Weatherwise," the magazine published by the American Meteorological Society.
Editor of "Weatherwise" is David M. Laddum, 285 Riverside Drive.

Mr. Stewart's article, "The Total Solar Eclipse of 2 October 1959," reports that the area of totality in this country will be limited to eastern Massachusetts and extreme southern New Hampshire. The eclipse will take place at sunrise.
Princeton residents wishing to see a partial eclipse should set their alarms early, since it will occur at approximately 6:50 in the morning.

Seven-Point G.O.P. Program.
"Orderly growth of the Township" is the core of the program advanced by Princeton candidates John S. Mount and Thomas P. Cook, who agree in a number of their proposals that acquisition and development of the Community Gardens and other property for recreational areas is an essential move. On other counts, GOP-men Mount and Cook would:
Appoint a citizens' committee to attract desirable business and research rateables to the Township as a means of reducing taxes on residential property;
complete a master plan for sewers in the municipality and extend sewer lines in critical areas as soon as possible; complete a "circulation loop" around the heart of Princeton, routed to create minimum interference with existing property values and recreation areas.
Other points advanced by the two Republicans are the need for extended water mains in Township areas where drinking water is not now available; action on the part of the Borough in establishing a joint public library and in extending Prospect Street from Cedar Lane to Riverside.

Male Will "Look at Record."
Willingness to stand on the policies he has followed for the past two years and the achievements of his administration was expressed this week by Mayor Raymond F. Male. Inviting the voters to "look at the record" with him in the weeks preceding Election Day as a means of measuring his administration's progress, Democrat Male declared:

"Our basic objective was open government — and that is now a functioning reality. We have created new channels for the exchange of ideas and opinions between the citizens and the town government; the process of decision-making has been an open book."

Pleasure at having Miss Esther Dilworth and Kenneth Wells, the party's council candidates, on the ticket with him was voiced by the Mayor. The Democratic Club
meanwhile reported that its campaign headquarters are open at 159 Nassau Street with Gordie Waldron as office manager, assisted by Miss Mary Peroni and Mrs. Sylvia Bromberger. Republicans are similarly installed on Chambers Street and the race may be expected to gain momentum as October moves steadily across the calendar.

to the public later this month. The land, appraised at $154,000, was given to Mercer County in 1957 by Prof. and Mrs. Oswald Veblen, Freeholder Richard J. Coffee is director of the project.

Those interested in wildlife and botany, as well as county residents who enjoy a walk in the country, will be able to use informal trails and natural paths. Markers will be put up to designate over 20 varieties of trees and rare plants and shrubs. Among the trees growing in "Hermitwood" are white ash, American beech, white dogwood, sweet gum, sourgum, hickory, scarlet maple, and black, red and white oaks.

One of the first phases of development will be the erection of a nature museum which will display samples of the trees and shrubs found on the tract. A series of old stone walls and a herd of deer will be included, while a natural feature of the tract is a branch of Harry's Brook. An entrance from Snowden Lane will be constructed, with the trails moving out from a parking area.

Later plans include a geological examination of the ground for molting, so that an evolutionary picture of the area can be displayed, as well as a complete catalogue of the plants and shrubs.

LOW-FLYING OBJECT: Bart Reavis, helicopter mechanic at Princeton University's James Forrestal Research Center and builder of the experimental "air scooter" developed by the Department of Aeronautical Engineering in cooperation with the Army, takes a spin around the hanger in the vehicle. The scooter, which lifted three or four inches off the ground by the so-called "Ground Effect" of air forced out its bottom, is powered by a five-horsepower engine.

TOPICS Of the Town

"AIR SCOOTER" DEVELOPED

At Forrestal Center, Princeton University scientists have developed a five-horsepower flying saucer to illustrate a principle of aerodynamics which could lead to the eventual construction of inexpensive manned vehicles that would fly several feet above land or sea at tremendous speeds. The machine was developed at the University's James Forrestal Research Center by a research team under the direction of Professor Courtland D. Perkins, chairman of Princeton's Department of Aeronautical Engineering. The experiments are being financed by the Aviation Branch of Transportation Research Engineering Command (TRECOM) of the U.S. Army.

The basic experiments, of which the so-called "air scooter" is a by-product, are concerned with possible practical applications of kinesthetic control, the body control utilized when maintaining balance on a bicycle. The scooter, the first device used to test the phenomenon, is a circular vehicle made of aluminum and fabric on which is mounted a bicycle seat and handlebars.

Weighing about 120 pounds and measuring eight feet in diameter at its base, the vehicle is fitted with a curved duct which enters its body at the center. Inside the duct is a five-horsepower engine with a propeller rotating on a vertical plane.

AIR FORCED OUT. The scooter is designed so that a 30-mph stream of air is sent through the duct, into the body and then forced out through a narrow opening at the base. This forced air creates the so-called "Ground Effect" which provides the lift and enables an operator to ride the vehicle at a height of three or four inches off the ground.

According to Thomas Sweeney, the project engineer and a lecturer in the Department of Aeronautical Engineering, the scooter is able to generate six times the lifting power of a helicopter, because of its proximity to the ground. "Ordinarily it takes one horsepower per 10 pounds of weight," he said, "but we have flown this five-horsepower machine with three people aboard, representing a total weight of better than 700 pounds."

More Power Coming. Further experiments are planned with an eye toward gaining greater power and therefore greater altitude. While the present model has no provision for steering or forward propulsion other than the kinesthetic control of the operator, future plans call for the addition of such equipment.

When this equipment has been developed and means have been found to elevate the machine enough to avoid ground obstacles, it is possible that safe, manned vehicles of this type will be in general use. Because the scooter is not in contact with the ground, friction is cut substantially and very high speeds will be attainable with low-powered engines.

NEW CLUB PLANNED

For Mt. Lucas Road, Princeton moved a step farther on the road to country-club suburbia this week with the announcement of formation of The Poor Farm Bath and Racquet Club, which a group of Princeton citizens hopes to start on the Lahiere Farm, corner of Mt. Lucas and Poor Farm Roads.

The Club, whose name is only tentative, is the property of Lawn, Inc., which is seeking to purchase the former Lahiere property from Bryce Thompson, IV. Formation of the club was originally Mr. Thompson's idea.

According to present plans, the Club would center its activities —Continued on Page 4 around the main stone house on the property, using it for card rooms and for cooked dinners until sufficient funds are raised to build a full institutional kitchen. The terrace on the east side of the house would be enlarged for outdoor dining.

The property also has a large stone barn, a skating pond and gardener's cottage. The barn would be used chiefly for a rustic room with dance floor, which would open up a 26-meter swimming pool (40 by 82½ feet).

Outside, on the 10-acre grounds would be facilities for badminton, tennis, putting, and croquet. The Club is planned for family use and there would be room for wading pools and children's games.

The property is now owned by Princeton Research Lands, Inc., of which Mr. Thompson is president, and was purchased for a reported $187,000. The club will be set up as a non-profit organization, with an involuntary membership of 250.

The founders of Lawn, Inc. are Richard E. Young, T. Hart Anderson, III, John E. Diehl, J. Richard Polson, Edward M. Gorman, William R. Shulliner, Jr. and Richard P. Lananah. John E. McCarthy, Jr., is agent.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. McCarthy presented their plans Monday night to the Township Zoning Board but must appear again because they had sent notices only to property owners living within 200 feet of the proposed 10-acre subdivision of the property. They are required by law to notify residents living within 200 feet of the entire tract of 80-odd acres.

"Bare feet," not "Sox!"
— FERRIS SUMNER

The crazy-quilt pattern that early fall was following promised in-hiring more odd variations in the next few days. The last ten in September had been far warmer than usual.

Tuesday, for example, averaged ten degrees above normal. Rain, traceable to a wild hyden named Gracie, was due Thursday, with partial clearing to follow. Generally cooler weather thereafter. The Man reported, with hopes for the weekend good. For the first two weeks of October, warmer than normal and rainfall below average.

Ground was broken Tuesday for the $250,000 first stage of the Nassau Inn expansion program. The initial construction, scheduled for completion by March, will include doubling the size of the present kitchen and building a new restaurant, to be called the Coach Room.

Participants in the ground-breaking were Mrs. Edgar Palmer, widow of the builder of Palmer Square; W. R. (Buster) Lewis, proprietor of the old Nassau Inn; George P. Wasko, manager of the Inn, and Fred M. Blalcher, president of Princeton Municipal Improvement Inc., which owns and operates the Inn. Also in attendance were Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male, members of the Board of Directors of PMI and representatives of the Borough Council, Planning Board and Zoning Board.

The Coach Room will provide food service ranging from breakfast to midnight snacks. The menu will feature charcoal-broiled specialties and sea foods and the room will be equipped with a soda fountain.

MRS. YOUNG RESIGNS

From Borough School Board. The Borough Board of Education at its September meeting Tuesday night accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Thelma C. Young and gave her a rising vote of thanks. (For additional information on Mrs. Young, see "Personalities," page 2.)

Mrs. William Miller, 116 Wilson Road, was sworn in as Mrs. Young's successor, to serve until the school board elections in 1960. A resident of the Borough for 20 years, Mrs. Miller is a past president of the League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community, a past vice-president of the Elementary P.T.A., and an active worker for the Red Cross, United Fund, March of Dimes and other organizations.

She is a trustee of the Jewish Center and a former substitute teacher in Princeton High School. Mrs. Miller is the wife of William Miller, Princeton attorney and the mother of three children in the Borough schools.

The Board's secretary, Irving Merzban, was directed to prepare a letter of thanks to Theodore Stern, chairman of the Borough Safety Committee, for the Committee's recommendations on the solution of traffic problems on Charlton, Moore and William Streets.

NOW, AT LAST. OFF, The All Purpose Cleaner In A Handy Tube.

Removes spots, spots, spots, all kinds of spots.

OFF is a gentle, odorless, cream in a convenient tin tube. It contains lanolin and is harmless to hands and skin. No clumsy glass container, no loose white powder, OFF can be carried about the house, kept in a handbag, or left in the glove compartment of your car.

OFF has been thoroughly tested. Spots of grease, tar, or paint, on rugs, carpets, car upholstery, furniture or fabric, will yield to an application of OFF or your money will be refunded. Just squeeze out a small amount of cream onto the spot, leave a few seconds to dissolve the cause of the trouble, and wipe away with a damp cloth or sponge.

It will instantly remove white stains from highly polished furniture, even if made by alcohol. Get a tube of OFF and try it!

OFF is on sale ONLY at LIGGETTS DRUG STORE, 98 Nassau Street, Princeton.

News Of The THEATRES

DANCERS DELIGHT CROWD

Ballet Espanole Will Receive. Shouts of "Ole!" from a warmly enthusiastic audience acclaimed the performance of the "Ballet Espanole Ximenez-Vargas" Saturday night in McCarter Theatre. The first presentation by C-K Productions, the town's newest theatrical sponsorship organization, headed by two enterprising Princeton sponsors, the Ballet Espanole offered a fine blend of colorful spectacle and exciting aural effects, to delight lovers of the Spanish dance tradition.

The choreography of Ximenez and Vargas is skillful, showing at all times an artistically balanced placement of dancers and musicians on the stage. The company's precision and sense of timing was flawless; castanets and high-heeled shoes beat bewitching staccato rhythms which were always perfectly coordinated with the musical accompaniment. The tangy flamenco melodies of guitarist Emilio Bonel and singer Manolo Leiva added greatly to the total performance; the piano accompaniments in several of the dances, however, were not as successful as those on the guitar, for they seemed to rob those particular numbers of some of their authentic Spanish flavor.

Though comprised basically of dances of the Spanish provinces, the program as a whole offered great variety. Especially attractive were the four South American folk dances, and the opening group of 18th-century Andalusian dances interestingly presented a type of traditional classical ballet with Spanish influences.

Roberto Ximenez's solo dance was an exhibition of great skill and brilliance, and every hit as much virtuosity was displayed throughout the evening by his colleague, Manolo Vargas. Guest artist Pepa Reyes was captivating in every appearance, and special mention should be made of Maria Alba, whose dramatic intensity in the "Petenera" legend made that dance one of the high points of the evening.

The costumes, with the exception of those in several of the folk dances, were simply and handsomely cut, with a minimum of flamboyant decorations, but with a tasteful emphasis on strong, solid color contrasts—black, white, vivid reds, and rich greens. This afforded a refreshing change from the eye-dazzling melange of colors and designs one usually expects to see in Spanish costumes, and lent an unusual air of dignity to many of the visual effects. Lighting was artistically planned, and scenery and props were few, allowing for complete audience concentration on the dancers themselves.

Tremendous energy, youthful vitality, and freshness of spirit permeated the entire program, and through each dancer's ardent intensity, the audience itself was caught up in the invigorating, intoxicating, frankly sensuous magic inherent in the Spanish dance art. C-K Productions is to be congratulated for its excellent choice of opening attraction, and for its unquestionable success which, judging by the large crowd in attendance at Saturday's performance, should continue throughout the season.

JOFFREY BALLET HERE

Will Dance Original Work. "Pas de Deuxes," "The Ballet of the Godesses," an original ballet by Robert Joffrey, will be part of the program when the New York group appears in McCarter Theatre next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

The ballet was in the Joffrey repertoire when the choreographer first formed his own company, and it won for him the immediate recognition of the Ballet Rambert of London and Ted Shawn, the American dancer. "Pas de Deuxes" was included in the repertoire when the Ballet—Continued on Page 6

DANCERS: Beatrice Tompkins, Pamela Ballerina, and Gerald Arpino will appear with the Robert Jeffrey Ballet troupe at McCarter Theatre Sunday and Monday nights.

Mr. Garner, first and only jazz artist to appear under the imprimatur of S. Hurok, has headed the bestseller list for three years with his release, "Concert by the Sea." The self-taught pianist will be accompanied by bass and percussion.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED
For Intime Plays, Tryouts for the freshmen plays, to be presented October 22 through 24, will be held this Sunday through Tuesday in Murray Theatre. Female parts are available in Noel Coward's "Hairs Across the Sea," and Eugene O'Neill's "The Movie Man." Those interested should come to Murray Theatre at 7.

Produced under the auspices of Theatre Intime, the two plays will be directed by Ralph Exnerian '42 and Bruce Partridge '42, respectively.

The fall production will be "All My Sons" by Arthur Miller, with performances scheduled for November 12 through 21. The director will be Greenville Cuyler '40. Tryouts will be held on the same dates as the freshmen plays.

THE PLAYHOUSE
Darby O'Gill and the Little People (October 1-3), another slickly sentimental product of the Walt Disney factory, is notable chiefly for its imaginative and technically superb camera work.

The story, which concerns a cheerfully lazy old Irishman and a pack of leprechauns, is a slow-moving bore that no self-respecting seven-year-old would consider diverting, but a little of the old Disney magic comes through in the delightful scenes where old Darby, life size, cavorts with the 2-inch-tall leprechauns.

The film, photographed in Technicolor, is set at the turn of the century in a small Irish town where Darby (Albert Sharpe) is the caretaker for the local lord.

When the latter decides benevolently to retire Darby and install young Sean Connery in his place, Darby plots to capture the leprechaun king (Jimmy O'Dea) and force the little fellow to give him three wishes. Things are further muddled when Janet Munro, Darby's appealing daughter, falls in love with Connery. It's all worked out in a warm-hearted way.

That Kind of Woman (October 4-6). Sophia Loren was quoted recently as saying that, although she is only 24, she feels she is most persuasive on the screen when her love interest is "a man old enough to be my father, like my husband." We don't know whether she was thinking of "That Kind of Woman" when she made the statement (although we suspect she was), but in any case, she has put her finger on—Continued on Page 8

the reason why this is such an un-satisfying picture. While she is improving, Miss Loren is still far short of being a great actress. She does, however, project in all her roles a kind of secure femininity that is perhaps best characterized as dignified.

Cast in this film as the mistress of a wealthy and powerful industrialist (George Sanders), Miss Loren is asked by the script-writer to give up everything for the sincere affection of Tob Hunter. In real life, Hunter is approximately equal in age to Miss Loren, but in the film, by comparison with her, he shows up as a cute-looking adolescent who is out of his class. The picture is fairly well-paced and the dialogue is often bright, but the central plot-line—the burgeoning romance between Miss Loren and Hunter—is unbelievable and keeps the audience out of sync. Others in the cast are Jack Ward, Barbara Nichols and Kennan Wynne.

THE GARDEN

Sanson and DeMille (October 13) puts the Bible, as one national news magazine likes to say, back on the treadmill. A 1951 release, the picture stars Hedy Lamarr and Victor Mature. It is big, loud, violent, sexy and crowded, and has about as much relation to the spirit of the Holy Scriptures as did "And God Created Woman."

However, it is really unfair to criticize Mr. DeMille's work with ordinary standards. The picture was born out of the old school and if he did not endow his films with a great deal of salubry or characterization it is because that was not his intent. There is no doubt that this is a spectacle and if you're prepared to accept it on that basis alone you're likely to find at least part of it entertaining. The film, naturally, is in Technicolor.

The Barbarian and the Geisha (October 5) opens the Garden's new season of Monday revivals of films which have distinguished themselves for one reason or another in the past. Others in the series will include "The Man in the Grey Flannel Suit," "The Three Faces of Eve," "The Sound and the Fury" and "Les Girls."

The Barbarian and the Geisha is a really very old not very distinguished, although it is bolstered by strong performances from John Wayne (who is less stalwart than usual), Eiko Ando and So Yamamura. The picture takes place in Japan in the 1600's when that country was first being opened to foreign traders. Wayne is in Japan to conclude a trade agreement and is received coolly but allowed to set up temporary residence by Yamamura, the Samurai governor. Miss Ando, a geisha girl, is assigned to spy on him but slowly begins to fall in love with him, and the real meat of the story is in their realization of the impossibility of their love. She is a victim of some poignant and gives the film some stature. The picture's theme, however, is as close to "Sayonara" that unfavorable comparisons are bound to occur to some viewers.

Wild Strawberries (October 6-10), in Swedish with English titles, is one of the year's great artistic successes. Written and directed by the brilliant Ingmar ("Smiles of a Summer Night") Bergman, the film concerns a 75-year-old retired professor of medicine who reaches a turning point in his life on a journey to receive an honorary degree.

The wild strawberries of the title are seen by the professor, magnificently played by Victor Sjöström, when he visits his childhood home. They evoke memories of a time when he was a young, carefree, adventurous person and point up how withdrawn and proud he has been through out his adult life. His trip is shown in detail, including meetings with a quarrelsome married couple, a pair of exuberant hitch-hikers and his 96-year-old mother. His realization of the tragedy of his life and his last-attempt to reverse the pattern in his final years is sketched vividly. Both directly and symbolically. The impact of this powerful drama is reinforced by a superb technical production. Recommended.

It's New To Us

There's an interesting Dutch bacon dressing which you heat gently and then pour over hot potatoes for hot potato salad.

Hume style corn relish, chowchow and "garden walk" combination that includes in its tangy urline all the vegetables you'd pick in a stroll through your garden—these are in the Shoo-Fly line, too. And four-p-o-u-n-d containers of preserves and home-style peaches and sealed peaches.

On the pasta shelf, Mr. Hawley has fusilli, mafafide, rigatoni, fettucini and the usual nozzles and spaghetti. Red kidney beans, cannellini, the white kidney beans and chick peas are there for the venturesome cook.

Try, for your next informal lunch or midnight appetizer, banana peppers, kosher dill pickles or hamburger slices (onion slices for hamburger, that) all pickled and ready for you to eat.

Of course, Hawley's specialty is meat and in his retail department he follows the same exacting standards he observes in his wholesale business. Veal, beef, pork, chickens are all top quality. There is, in addition, the usual cold-cut line and a big chest of frozen foods.

The Long of It. Sofas at Nassau Interiors are designed for seven-foot men who like to stretch out. Among the new arrivals at the Nassau Street furniture store are a 96-inch sofa and a 90-inch, both of which make the standard six-foot-six sofa look pretty small.

The longest one is square and modern with four standard cushions against its back and square, forthright arms. The upholstery is beige and champagne stripes. Another long fellow has a tapestry of champagne-colored coins for its fabric. There are two foam cushions making the seat.

One of the handsomest new wicker sofas is an Italian provincial one made of a pecky fruitwood—arms and back frame legs showing—upholstered in a narrowly striped gold, brown and rust saia fabric. Seat has free cushions, back is rigidly padded. There are matching chairs, low, flared and delightfully inviting, covered with dull gold fabric which blends with the couch.

Another long 4-cushion couch has four standard seat cushions, a pleated skirt and a covering of oyster-white nubbed fabric.

Oiled walnut and teak continue to be favorites in the hardwood furniture department. A low serving cart has a top of light and dark teak, the lighter wood forming a margin at each side. The handles and slots in the wood, bound with raffia. Underneath is a rotten shelf and carrying it all are four casters on tapered legs.

Founders has a buffet bar, also on casters, with a black micro-top which is alcohol-proof. The shelves are adjustable and the cane front doors are reversible, so that you can remove the cane panel and have a walnut panel in front if you wish. There is a handle-less drawer for bar utensils and a two-inch gallery around the top. Comes in oil or lacquer finish.

Oil finish has been used on a graceful kachoe desk with straight, tapered legs—a paradoxical description, but a true one—center drawer and two drawers on each side.

In quite a different style, walnut has been used for a chest of drawers which would go well with the Italian fruitwood pieces we described earlier. The wood is very light, almost like ash, with an antique wormy finish. Drawer pulls are porcelain medallions painted with shellfishes and a dining lover, and so on. The mirror above is tall and narrow with a ruching of gold around its edge and a dome-shaped top of wood with a formal gold scone done in low relief.

Now that autumn is here, Nassau Interiors suggests the purchase of a draw fire-screen which you may have for $29.95. Comes in widths up to 50 inches with black or brass mesh. There is a pressure bar which holds it firmly in the fireplace opening and makes it simple to install. The top bar is copper, brass or black depending on your choice.

IT TAKES TIME FOR A TREE TO GROW: But a painted tree will burst from seed to bloom in just one day. The owners of the Princeton Gaumet decided therefore to decorate their new cinder-block north wall with painted trees and birds and they called in Henry Martin to do the job. The artist confers with Patricia Gehlert, one of the Gaumet's owners, on the subject of fast-growing painted trees.

YMCA ENROLLMENT BEGINS

For Fall-Winter Program. A wide range of recreational activities will be offered this fall to men and boys of the Princeton area by the YMCA. Enrollment starts this Thursday at the Avalon Place building and will continue through October 10.

From a Toddlers' Art class for youngsters 3 and 4 years of age through programs for boys in grades one to 12 and others for adults in the community, the "Y" is prepared to fill leisure time in pleasant fashion. Boys and their fathers may enroll together in the Indian Guide program or the Adventure Club.

Instruction is also available in the development of physical skills, including swimming, while bus trips, over-night camping, badminton, weight-lifting, a radio club and handicraft are all on the program. Many of the classes are co-ed in nature. The adult program offers such opportunities as duplicate bridge; a "Toastmasters' Club" for young executives seeking to learn "how to think on their feet;" archery, swimming and life-saving. Full details, including brochures, may be obtained at the "Y."

LICENSE REVOKED

For Excessive Speed. Barry Dickenson, 22, 59 Leavitt Lane, had his license revoked for 90 days Monday when convicted of driving 65 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone.

Dickenson also paid a $40 fine imposed by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. Police said he was operating the car with a "red" license, indicating previous revocation.

TWO-DAY DRIVE PLANNED

By League of Women Voters. A combination information and drive by the Princeton League of Women Voters will take place this Monday and Tuesday under the direction of Mrs. John K. Hemphill and her committee. A membership breakfast will be held Monday at 9 in Borough Hall. Speakers will be Stanley C. Smoyer and Mrs. Elmer Alpert, a state director of the League.

The campaign will be limited to a carefully selected group of residents. Part of the $2800 budget issued for printing and mailing 6500 information sheets to voters. (These will be received about October 25.) In addition, the Princeton League helps support the state and national offices. The national office directs about 1000 groups located in every state. No salaries are paid to executives.

Candidate meetings are part of the league's program. On Thursday, October 22, Borough and Township aspirants will discuss issues at the Nassau Street School. When there is a contest for Board of Education vacancies, the League also sponsors candidate meetings.

Another aspect of the League's plan for this year includes disseminating information on the $66 million bond referendum for higher education. Speakers on this subject will be provided for groups such as PTA's, the Professional Girls Club and B'nai B'rith. The League is a non-partisan organization which encourages its members to take an active part in politics. The cost of membership is $5.

COCKTAIL PARTY PLANNED
By Republican Clubs. The three Republican Clubs of Princeton will hold their second annual pre-election cocktail party this Saturday from 8:30-7:30 at the Princeton Inn. The affair is being held to give all those attending a chance to discuss local issues with the candidates.

All of the Republican candidates for office in the November 3 election in the Borough and the Township will be on hand. The three candidates for the State Assembly from Mercer County have also been invited. The presidents of the three clubs are H. K. Sander, Republican Club of Princeton; Mrs. Frank L. Eidmann, Women's Republican Club of Princeton and Harold B. Erdmann, Young Republican Club of Princeton. All interested voters are invited to attend.

TENACRE PLANS ANNOUNCED

OF UNDETERMINED ORIGIN: A roaring, spark-filled blaze demolished the old barn at the rear of the YMCA property Saturday night, threatening house roof-tops in the vicinity and attracting a crowd of 250 onlookers. The barn, which stood near John Street behind Dorothea House, contained "Y" day camp supplies and tents valued at about $400, and old pieces of woodwork and stained glass which had been part of "Avalon," the Henry Van Dyke residence razed so that the "Y" could be built. The general alarm first took about three hours to extinguish, largely because the barn was not easy to get at. Firemen returned twice to the scene on Sunday to extinguish smoldering wood. ### JUDGES ANNOUNCED

For Festival of the Arts. Three judges, who will pass on works submitted by Princeton area artists for the 1959 Festival of the Arts, have been named by Mrs. Peter G. Cook and Mrs. Gilbert Lee. They are Harry Leith-Ross and Arthur Wicks, both of New Hope, and Joseph Meierhans of Ithaca, N.Y.

The committee has received applications from artists from the midwest and the west coast, as well as from almost all of the eastern states. New York galleries will also submit paintings. These will be sold on commission with proceeds to the Miss Fine's School scholarship fund.

P.H.S. WINN AWARD

Given Safety Plaque. Princeton High School is the only high school in New Jersey to win a safe-driving plaque from the National Commission of Safety Education of the National Educational Association.

The plaque was given on Tuesday in Marlborough, president of the senior class, chairman of the school's committee for teen-age safe driving and president of the National Student Safety Association, Thomas Langen, of the Driver and Safety Education Association, made the presentation.

The award came as the result of a program in traffic safety which Princeton High followed last spring. The program was first with the Commission in January and reported on in June and this final report on the basis of the award.

AREA WOMAN IS WINNER

On TV Program. Mrs. Joan Thompson, Landfall, Lawrenceville, was the first winner on a new audience participation TV show called "Split Personality." The show had its premier performance on Monday.

Mrs. Thompson won a deep freeze, a set of dishes, carpeting and a sectional sofa when she correctly named the mystery personality from a set of clues. She also had the opportunity to try and identify the two famous people shown in a still personality puzzle — a composite photo of two famous faces. Mrs. Thompson named one face correctly but failed to identify the other. Married, she has a 12-year old daughter and teaches school.

FRACTURED ANKLE

In Fall Down Stairs. Daniel Farr, 44, of 104 Library Place fell down a flight of stairs Saturday and suffered a compound fracture of the ankle.

Mr. Farr was taken to Princeton Hospital in the First Aid Unit ambulance. The hospital reported that Mr. Farr "is doing extremely well."

JOINS DR. ROBERT LEWIS

In Pediatric Practice. Dr. Thomas L. Evans, 266 Shady Brook Lane, is now associated with Dr. Robert M. Lewis in the practice of pediatrics at the Medical Arts Building, 253 Witherspoon Street. Dr. Evans, who spent his youth in Wynnewood, Pa. and Buffalo, N.Y. is a graduate of Hobart College, Geneva, N.Y. and the Temple University School of Medicine, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Evans interned at Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, Del., where he also completed a year in pediatric residency. He spent another year in residency at St. Christopher's Hospital for Sick Children in Philadelphia and had three years of pediatric practice in the U. S. Air Force at Air Force hospitals in England. Dr. Evans and his wife, Winifred, have four children.

TELL ME A STORY

Library Plans For Children. The children's department of the public library will begin its story hours for pre-school and school-age children this Saturday and Wednesday, October 7, respectively.

For pre-schoolers, the Saturday hours are 10:30 to 11 through November 28. The emphasis will be on picture books. Parents are asked not to leave the building during the half-hour periods. Myths, fairy tales and adventure stories will be read to the school-age children from 3:30 to 4 Wednesday.

HUN PARENTS DAY SET

For This Saturday. Parents of Hun School students have been invited to the school this Saturday for lunch with the faculty and students. At 2, Hun's varsity football team will play its first game against Pennington Prep. After the game, the Fathers Association will meet to elect new trustees and officers. The Auxiliary, composed of mothers of students, will plan its program for the coming year. There will be a dinner for the parents, faculty and staff at the Nassau Inn. —Continued on Page 16

SHE'S GOT THEM CATALOGUED: Voters who want background material on elections, presidential or otherwise, can always ask the Princeton Public Librarian, Miss Janet Herb, who checks books in and out at the public library, has opinions of her own on who the next president will be. For her view and others, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: The next presidential election is only about a year away. Who do you think will win it — and do you plan to vote for him?

Where asked: Around town.

Lewis H. Ferrans, 78 Nassau Street, barber: I think Kennedy will be the man. I don't think religion will be a factor as it was when Al Smith ran. People are more broad-minded today. Nixon, though, has enjoyed some considerable successes toward the nomination in the past few months. If they put up Kennedy, I'll vote for him.

Mrs. John M. Gaston, Jr., 150 Mercer Street, housewife: I hope Richard Nixon will win and I do plan to vote for him. He is still a young man and I think he's gone a long way. Through his wide travels, I feel he would have a very strong foreign policy.

J. E. Teichman, Tenacre Foundation, Great Road, male nurse: I think Nixon will win. If he keeps up his present popularity trend, I know I plan to vote for him.

Miss Janet Herb, 59 Dorane Ave., librarian: It's hard to tell when the presidential election seems so far away. Who knows what will happen between now and then? From the way things look now, I'd say that the ticket will probably be Kennedy for the Democrats and Rockefeller for the Republicans. Personally, I think Rockefeller would beat Kennedy, and I think I'd vote for Rockefeller if he ran.

Mrs. Harold Close, 41 Nassau, housewife: If Rockefeller is up, I'll vote for him by all means. I don't like Nixon. I've been a Republican all my life. The whole Rockefeller family to me has a very high ideal of public service.

Abraham Dey, 12 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, cemetery maintenance man: I like to see our own governor, Governor Meyner, win it. I think he's a good man. He's doing a good job for New Jersey — I'd vote for him.

Mrs. Jane Snedeker, Stonybrook Road, Hopewell, receptionist: I am hoping Rockefeller will run and if he does I'll vote for him. I think his principles are pretty high — I am thinking of his family standards, particularly. He is a good, clean American citizen.

U. G. Melick, 79 South Stanworth Drive, retired American Telephone and Telegraph employee: I think Nixon will win the election. I plan to vote for him.

What are the folks doing? Find out fast with a friendly phone call. It costs little. A 3 minute station call clear to Montreal, Canada from Trenton costs only 90¢ after 6 PM—10% tax not included.

Who'll Be Next!

TOWN TOPICS: Inquiring Reporter turned this week to one of America's favorite guessing games: Who will be the next President of the United States?

Richard Nixon, said a number of Republicans. Nelson Rockefeller, declared a few others. Those leaning toward the Democratic ticket had varied choices to oppose the potential G.O.P. nominee — although no one, surprisingly, mentioned Adlai Stevenson, the choice in some quarters, to lead his party for a third straight time.

The election is still more than a year away, but the national conventions are already being planned. For a look at what Princetonians think may occur, see this page.

Mrs. Robert Bair, 117 Kendall Road, Franklin Park, housewife: I'd like to see Nixon get it. If he is up for it, I'd vote for him. It seems strange that I would like to see Kennedy and Nixon on the same ticket, because they are both young and fairly aggressive. Nixon is in the know. He is an aggressive politician. He would do something if he thought it was best for the country, even though it might mean losing some votes here and there.

Kenneth Hendry, 17 Westcott Road, salesman: I'd like to see Henry Krajewski, the pig farmer from Secaucus win it. He's been trying for, lo, these many years and it's about time he's rewarded for his perseverance. He's certainly got my vote.

Mrs. Kevin Kennedy, Hertenstown Road, housewife: I think Dick Nixon will win and I certainly plan to vote for him. I think he has done a wonderful job in South America and in Russia. He has the experience to carry on Eisenhower's policies.

George Bigorelli, Coppernair Road, painter: I think Kennedy or Harriman will get it. All I know is that it will be a Democrat who will be elected next year. Probably Kennedy will get it because he is younger.

A. D. Baldwin, 17 Rutledge Avenue, Trenton, painter: Even though I'd like to see the Democrats win, I think the Republicans have it sewed up. They have power and everything. I think Rockefeller will beat Nixon because he has a lot of influence and money. If the Democrats and Republicans win, and I think I'd vote for third party in this country.

RECEPTIONS SCHEDULED

By Elementary PTA. The Princeton Elementary PTA will hold its annual fall reception at the Nassau Street School at 8 on Tuesday and at the Witherspoon School at 8 next Thursday. Parents will have an opportunity to visit classes and meet teachers, as well as Mrs. Dorothy Lumsden, now principal of Nassau Street; Howard B. Waxwood, principal of Witherspoon, and B. Woodliff Davis, superintendent of schools.

Room mother-hostesses at the Nassau Street reception will be Mrs. Oliver Houghton, Mrs. Nicholas Costa, Mrs. John Bonner, Mrs. J. Danford Hagdorn, Mrs. Edward C. Angar, Mrs. Edward S. Golden, Mrs. Cyril Black, Mrs. Paul Tillet, Mrs. John C. Norman, Mrs. William Holt, Mrs. Edwin Rogers, Mrs. Leon Lapidus, Mrs. Bruce Metzger, Mrs. W. V. Hanley, Mrs. L. A. Bala, Mrs. George E. Rollins Jr.

Also, Mrs. Frank A. Rechli, Mrs. W. Brooks, Mrs. W. Turnbull, Mrs. William Plomer 3d, Mrs. W. Hollis Tegarden, Mrs. Carl Morgans, Mrs. Frank S. Gander, Mrs. Robert M. Engelbrecht and Mrs. Gardner Patterson. Witherspoon Street hostesses will be Mrs. Duane Doyle, Mrs. J. H. Ahrens, Mrs. P. B. Silver Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Groe, Mrs. Leonard Tucker, Mrs. J. P. Viguers and Mrs. Kenneth Love.

Officers of the PTA for the coming year are Mrs. John J. Fischer, president; Mrs. W. F. Stohman, first vice-president; Mrs. J. W. Markham, second vice-president; Mrs. M. Tumlin, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert A. Lively, corresponding secretary; Mr. and Mrs. John Viguers, cotreasurers, and Fred Siebels, teacher representative.

PAPER DRIVE LISTED

By American Legion. American Legion Post 76 will conduct its regular monthly paper drive on Sunday. Trucks will begin touring the Borough and Township at 1 p.m. Chairman of the October drive is D. Don Richards.

Members who wish to help are asked to contact Mr. Richards at WA 4-6014 or to meet at the Borough Garage, North Harrison Street, at 1 on Sunday. Income from the paper drive helps to finance child welfare and sports programs, War Memorial observances and gifts for hospital patients.

ENROLLMENT STILL OPEN

For Sunn YWCA classes. While fall enrollment for the YWCA's adult classes has exceeded expectations and many courses are filled, there are still openings in the cake decorating, language and interior decorating classes.

The cake decorating class will meet Friday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30. Cakes will be provided for decoration each week by the instructor and course members are invited to bring in their own cakes to be decorated for special occasions.

A special six-week course in interior decorating will begin at 8 p.m. on Tuesday at the Y. In addition, language classes in Russian, English and French can still enroll a limited number of students. Information on all courses is available from the YWCA, WA 4-4825.

PETROZZINI ELECTED

By Sportsmen. Harry P. Petrozzini has been elected president of the Princeton Italian-American Sportsmen's Club. The group's next regular meeting is at 8 p.m. next Thursday in the recreation room of the clubhouse.

Other new officers are John Petrone, first vice-president; Joseph Marrone, second vice-president; Nicholas Rosal, secretary; Victor Carraszi, financial secretary. —Continued on Page 17

"Shameful and Stupid."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On Washington Road, close to Nassau Street, there is a great tree. The diameter of its trunk, five feet above the ground, is about four feet.

Its branches reaching up 80 feet and arching gently all the way across Washington Road, present an almost classic example of the beauty of the American Elm. Stand at the Methodist Church corner and look south at it. It is a magnificent tree, and it took about 200 years to become what it is.

Now, in the name of "progress," the Borough plans to cut down that tree in order to widen Washington Road enough to have two lanes debouching north simultaneously onto Nassau Street. This is as shameful as it is stupid.

Our town would thus lose a thing of beauty which cannot be replaced in our generation or even in our grandchildren's. For what? To gain a "solution" to a traffic problem which any high school student of transportation problems would see cannot "solve" the problem for more than two or three years at most? Is that fair exchange? Are we, in the name of progress to allow this beautiful town to become, bit by bit, the victim of these machines intended to serve us? Must we, month after month, year after year, constantly fall back before the monstrous encroachments of traffic and parking lots?

Is it inevitable that Princeton should someday be, like so many towns in this once fair land are now, a treeless expanse of black-top baking in the sun? Most of them didn't become that way on purpose. It was planned that they be hideous. It happened because little by little, block by block, or even tree by tree, there was no outcry against this sort of "progress."

What about Operation Nassau? Or is that concerned only with important matters like shore fronts and parking meters?

PHOTOGRAPHER HONORED

At International Exhibit, Orren Jack Turner, Princeton photographer, was honored by the selection of one of his pictorial photographs of a ballet dancer entitled, "The Slipper" for exhibit in the International Exhibition of Photography at the Los Angeles County Fair.

Special juries of photographers, all holders of the Masters of Photography degree, earlier this year had selected the exhibit from over 5000 entries. About 300 were chosen on the basis of high quality and workmanship. A staff from the International Salon further reduced the entries to 125 prints, or about 2.5 percent of the original entries.

LABOR EXPERT TO SPEAK

Before Women's College Club, Dr. Richard A. Lester, University faculty member and authority in the field of labor economics, will speak at the first fall meeting of the Women's College Club of Princeton Monday at 3:30 at the Present Day Club. Dr. Lester will discuss "Labor Unionism and the New Legislation."

Cofeuses are Mrs. Arthur Beddoe and Mrs. Howard L. Cox. They will be assisted by Mrs. Carl.

His survivors include two brothers, William Brokaw of Monmouth Junction and Aaron Brokaw of Skillman; three sisters, Mrs. Cora Bates of Hopewell, Mrs. Minner Grover of Skillman and Miss Octavia Brokaw of Metuchen; and several nieces and nephews. The funeral was held in the Bethel AME Church in Skillman, with the Rev. Launderman James officiating. Interment was in Sloughsburg, Penna.

Mrs. Mary B. Eisenmann, 58, of 36 Hillside Avenue, died September 26 at her home. Born in Scotland, she was an employee of Educational Testing Service, and had lived here 37 years.

She is survived by her husband, Gustave Eisenmann former Township police chief; two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Exons and Miss Mae Eisenmann, both of Princeton; three sons, Gustave W. Eisenmann of Mooresville, Penna. Robert L. Eisenmann of Rocky Hill, and James C. Eisenmann of Glen; a sister, Mrs. Charles Coppers of Myrtle, Conn., and two others in Scotland.

A private service was held in Princeton Cemetery with the Rev. David L. Crawford officiating. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Peter B. Harford, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Harford of 82 Mason Drive, died September 25 in Princeton Hospital. In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Susan Harford; a brother, James J. Harford; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Harford of Cranford, Joseph Waters of Connecticut, and Mrs. Ernestine Waters of Great Neck, N. Y. The committal service was held in St. Paul's Cemetery. The Mather Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Mary E. McIntosh, 76, of 31 Moran Avenue, died September 24 in her home after a long illness. The widow of Andrew McIntosh, she was born in Princeton where she was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. She is survived by two sons, William McIntosh and Andrew McIntosh, both of Princeton; a grandchild; and two great-grandchildren. The Rev. George Mair, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated at the funeral which was held at the Mather Funeral Home. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Susan C. Shaw, 84, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. J. John Bayles at 342 Washington Road, died September 22 in Princeton Hospital. Born in Somerville, she was the widow of Robert D. Shaw, and had lived in the Princeton area for the past 15 years.

In addition to Mrs. Bayles, she is survived by a granddaughter, Mrs. Guy A. Bensinger Jr. of French Neck, and four great-grandchildren. The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert Westover, pastor of the Princeton Baptist Church at Penns Neck, officiating. Interment was in New Cemetery, Somerville.

Mrs. Rebecca Cupples Wilson, 67, of 8 Maple Terrace died September 24 in Princeton Hospital, following an automobile accident in Monmouth Junction September 21. The widow of Egbert Wilson, she was a member of the Order of Shepherds of Bethlehem and had lived in Princeton all her life.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Thompson, who was injured in the accident, Mrs. Sal Pascope of Huntington, N. Y., Mrs. John DeVito of Kingston and Mrs. William R. Soons of West Englewood; three sons, Walter Cupples and Andrew Cupples, both of Princeton, and Howard Cupples of Trenton; a brother, Samuel C. Davison Sr. of Princeton; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Servis of Princeton and Mrs. Thomas Flynn of Monroe, N. Y.; 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Charles G. Newberry, assistant rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated at the funeral which was held at the Kimble Funeral Home. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

MUSIC In Princeton

CONCERTS LISTED

For University Season, The Philadelphia Orchestra under the baton of Eugene Ormandy will open the 1959-60 Series I University Concert Series in McCarter Theater on Monday evening, October 19.

Subsequent Series I concerts will bring to Princeton the Cleveland Orchestra on February 2 under George Szell, an annual musical event which has become a Princeton tradition, and two noted soloists, Elizabeth Schwarzkopf and Mieczyslaw Horowitzki.

Miss Schwarzkopf gave her first lieder recital in Vienna in 1942 and since that time has become known as an outstanding interpreter of lieder, as well as an outstanding opera singer.

Mr. Horowitzki, pianist, is a former child prodigy who has become widely known in his adult years for his main recitals with Pablo Casals. Several years ago he played the entire solo piano literature of Beethoven in a series of 12 New York recitals.

Chamber Music Planned. In Series II, the University Concerts will present, as usual five chamber music recitals, the first to be given on November 2. In this first concert, the Clarion Concerts group will present little-known music of the 18th century written for small orchestra, chorus and soloists.

As the season progresses, Series II will present the Beaux Arts Trio, the Festival Quartet, Rosalyn Tureck and Andres Segovia. The Quartet is composed of four solo musicians who are colleagues at the Aspen Festival and the group is the first all-star contemporary quartet to dedicate itself piano quartet music.

Miss Tureck, renowned as one of the leading interpreters of Bach's keyboard music, has devoted over 25 years to the study and performance of Bach's works. Senior Segovia, classical guitarist, is known to all music-lovers as the peerless master of this instrument.

Series I has already been sold out by subscription, but 50 standing room tickets at $1.50 will go on sale at McCarter box office at 7:30 p.m. the evening of each performance. No reservations are accepted for standing room tickets.

Information about Series II tickets may be obtained from Mrs. MacKenty Bryan, 2-A North Middle Reunion Hall, Princeton University. Single tickets for Series II will go on sale at the University Store two weeks before each concert and will also be available at the McCarter box office the evening of the performance.

BUSINESS In Princeton

ANNIVERSARY AT BANK
Open House Is Planned. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company, established as Princeton's first bank in 1831, will celebrate the 125th anniversary of its founding on October 12 with an "open house" reception. Residents of Princeton are invited to visit the bank's main office, 12 Nassau Street, from 2 to 5.

MORE SPACE: Gilbert Turner, vice-president and trust officer of The First National Bank smiles behind his new desk in the trust department's expanded office. (See story below.)

The bank first opened for "discount and deposit" on October 12 of the same year with a paid-in capital of $90,000. In that year the first census of Princeton was taken. It revealed the population to be 2015 percent of whom 150 were "Regular Citizens," 19 slaves and about 400 "students of the different institutions."

Twelfth Oldest In State. The bank is the 12th oldest of the 24 commercial banks currently operating in the state and ranks 29th in size. Through its three offices in Princeton, Princeton Township and Hopewell, it now serves an area having a population of more than 25,000 including some 3,000 students.

Starting with a staff of three, the bank personnel for all three branches now numbers 83, 11 of whom have been employed for more than a dozen years. All members of the staff will be present to receive guests attending the 125th anniversary reception.

AD AGENCY EXPANDS

Enlarged Staff, New Quarters. An expanded staff of seven has moved into the new and larger quarters of the R. W. Westervelt Agency and the advertising organization plans an intensive campaign with emphasis on creative art for brochures, booklets and layouts of all kinds.

The agency, now at 130 Nassau, has been in Princeton since 1957 and its new move gives it about 1500 square feet of floor space, approximately one-third more than previous quarters in the First National Bank Building.

"I think we have one of the best creative art departments between Newark and Philadelphia," said Mr. Westervelt, announcing his expanded services. "Frank Stewart is our creative artist and his assistant is Marianne Schweerer, both of whom are equipped to handle anything from a grain to a complete brochure, including lettering and typography." Louis Cavallo has also joined Mr. Westervelt recently in the capacity of account executive. Many of the agency's accounts are religious organizations, but Mr. Westervelt does handle advertising for a wide variety of other clients, including The English Shop in Princeton.

Much of the work of R. W. Westervelt is in the direct mail field and Mr. Westervelt counts about 60,000 stencils. He handles advertising (either direct mail or ad placement) for the Southern Baptist Convention; D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc., publishers; Nassau Oil; Princeton Theological Seminary; American Business Executives, Inc.; Aeromath, a flight-computer company in Florida and others. He estimates that his 46 accounts place half a million dollars worth of billings with his agency and he expects that his billings will rise to one million by 1961.

Mr. Westervelt, who has been in the advertising business since 1933, expects to install in two or three months equipment for photo-offset work. He has just been given the contract for the "Seminar," weekly paper of the Princeton Theological Seminary.

Another new Westervelt project is the Olive Poll Bible Foundation. This Foundation, under the guidance of the agency, will distribute condensed versions of the Bible.

QUARTERS EXPANDED

For First National. With 30 percent more working space, the Trust Department of The First National Bank now occupies the entire front section of the second floor at 90 Nassau Street. Included in the new facilities are a reception area, customers' lounge, private offices for the offices and increased space for the accounting division.

Increasing business, in addition to expanded trust and estate planning services, prompted the expansion. The trust department's total volume has increased by 30 percent in the last five years.

Gilbert Turner has been trust officer since December of last year. Mrs. Elizabeth Van Sover, assistant trust officer, has been with the bank for over 25 years.

NOW ONE OWNER

For King's Court. Norman Aronson, 221 Riverside Drive, has purchased the King's Court stock of his former partner, Robert Sauber, 185 Valley Road, and is now the sole owner of the Witherspoon Street restaurant.

Mr. Aronson and Mr. Sauber started the restaurant last year. In the intervening months, Mr. Sauber has opened two additional restaurants, The Charcoal Lodge, on U. S. 1 and Queen's Court in New Brunswick.

VOLLRATH JOINS FIRM

As Investment Counselor. Donald C. Vollrath of Springdale Road has joined the staff of Harland W. Holington Inc., 10 Nassau Street, investment counselors and investment advisers to the Nassau Fund. A graduate of Princeton University, Mr. Vollrath has been in the investment field for 30 years.

For the past 14 years he has been an investment counselor for Wood, Strubers & Co. in New York. Prior to that he was a security analyst for the trust departments of the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co. and the Philadelphia National Bank.

IVY CHASE BEGINS

For Princeton at Columbia. Facing a Columbia team that has greater potential than any to represent the Lions in the past decade, Princeton will begin its quest for the 1959 Ivy crown Saturday afternoon. The contest at New York's Baker Field (Broadway and 218th Street) will begin at 1:30.

While it was expected that the Lions would upend a rebuilding Brown eleven last week, the ease with which the oft bedraggled New Yorkers handled the opposition was a bit surprising. They ran and passed the Bruins dizzy, rolling up a 43-yard offensive total that must stand as a high for Columbia since the good Lion teams of the immediate post-war era.

The Light Blue has an unusually young team, one that relies largely on sophomores. Five members of this class are currently starters for Columbia, along with four juniors and only two seniors.

Chief running threat is 175-lb. Harvey Brookins, a 5-8 speedster who captains this year's Lion eleven. He pairs with 180-lb. Don Savini, a stocky, well-built player who was slowed by injuries last season.

Two sophomores alternate at running Coach Buff Donnell's version of the T, which often features a flanker to the right. Tom Vaselli is tabbed as the squad's top passer; Walt Congram has an edge in running but both will see a good deal of action. Another sophomore, Steve Zisk, is the probable choice to round out the backfield. Eddie Donovan, Jaycee coach who headed the three-man scouting brigade for Princeton at Providence last Saturday, gave the Lions a good rating. He credits them with a mobile line averaging close to 200, better than average backfield speed and dangerous in both running and passing plays. Also indicative of the renaissance that has reached the Morningstar Heights campus is the fact that the Lions have the depth to substitute by platoons.

Tigers Beat Themselves. It took a number of costly mistakes to help Rutgers defeat Princeton, 8 to 6, Saturday afternoon. The Scarlet won because it scored early (with the help of two penalties and a Tiger lapse in pass defense) and then played such a pure brand of defensive football that the opportunity for errors fell almost entirely to the Orange and Black.

Princeton made too many, even for an opening day, against a good team. With senior Jay Cullen sidelined by an injury, the Tigers were working with a pair of inexperienced quarterbacks, and the signal calling showed it.

This was particularly true when the drive at the end of the second period was killed by the clock with the ball a foot away from the end zone, and by frequent pass plays at a time when the Tigers' running game was chomping up the big Rutgers line with complete authority. The interception on the Rutgers' six midway through the final quarter resulted from a pass thrown on a second and two situation. It's a good play when you can afford to gamble, but not when you're two points behind and averaging five yards per carry on the ground.

Post mortem discussion centered around the decision to try for a field goal on first down with 33 seconds left on the clock. Actually, the call was a good one: there was no guarantee that another play could be run first and still leave time for the field goal attempt.

There were two other situations when Princeton was well inside Rutgers' 20 yard line, fourth and four or five yards to go, that could well have been given a field goal call. However, the Tigers were trailing by eight at the time, and unlike the pros, college thinking does not go for anything less than a tie.

Rutgers scored the first time it got the ball, covering 66 yards in 15 plays, once with the aid of a Princeton offside and later with the help of a call for pass interference. On the touchdown, it was second and 26 to go and the Tiger secondary should have been deep, but wingback Army Byrd got behind it for an end zone completion.

The two-point conversion was a success, but it spelled the difference. Dan Sachs raced 80 yards just before the third period ended to make it 8-6 but his pass to Bruce Sprague was wide of the mark and the Tiger secondary failed to complete a diving grab for the ball.

Colman was disappointed but by no means downhearted per the performance of his players, commenting that the coaching staff "was pleased with the way they played the score." Princeton is actually a good bit ahead of its progress at this time one year ago, particularly in the development of its line and its ability to field two good teams on an alternating basis.

The Tigers ran and passed for 310 yards while holding the visitors to 126 in the second half. Rutgers made only 43 yards and two first downs — a defensive performance by the Orange and Black that holds considerable promise for the future.

In the past three years, Princeton has trimmed Columbia by scores of 30-0, 47-6 and 43-8. Off the Lions' Improved status this fall, any repetition of such one-sided victories is unlikely, but the Orange and Black should win by two or three touchdowns.
Favoring Princeton are such factors as the lack of height in the Columbia backfield, making it difficult for the Lions to defend against passes; the caliber of the Tigers' reserve line; and the fact Columbia Coach Buff Donnell always has trouble defending against the single wing.

PHS TRIPS MOUNT HOLLY
Hawkins and Sandvik Score.
Successful in thwarting a last-minute scoring threat by the Mount Holly Red Raiders, Princeton's Little Tigers managed to cling to their one touchdown lead and win their season's opener on Friday, 12-6.

With this first big one tucked away, the Blue and White will aim for the Colonials of Freehold, whom it faces this Saturday at Freehold. The Monmouth County team lost its opener last week to Delans, Pa., High School, 12 to 7.

Last week, Jack Hawkins, Princeton High tailback, would have shown any Freehold scout plenty. With his running and passing leading the way, PHS started fast. A Hawkins pass to end Dick Olsen, and another from Hawkins to Russ Petrone carried Princeton deep into Mount Holly territory in the opening minutes of the game. Hawkins and fullback Bruce Gould were unable to move the ball up the middle of the visitors' line, however, and the attack stalled.

Mount Holly, for its part, could do nothing against the Princeton line and was forced to kick. This time, the Little Tigers were not to be denied, scoring in five plays.

In two tries, Hawkins picked up 20 yards on the ground, running laterally, waiting for a hole to open and then darting through. Could lost yardage on a fumble and a Hawkins-Olsen pass was broken up.

On the next play, Hawkins split the Mount Holly line for six yards and a TD. On the try for point, Princeton High lined up as though to kick. The ball was snapped directly to Hawkins who fumbled and the attempt to cross up the visitors with a run or pass failed.

Mount Holly was still unable to generate a sustained offense and was forced to kick. Early in the second quarter, Olsen intercepted a Red Devil pass on the Princeton High 40.

A Hawkins-to-Petrone aerial picked up 20 yards. Ted Meredith, now playing fullback for the Little Tigers, hit the left side of the line for five yards before Petrone scampered around end to pick up a first down on the Mount Holly 30.

Hawkins passed to Meredith on the 15 and another first down, and then hit Bruce Sandvik with a ninety-yarder. Meredith picked up the first down, plunging to the Mount Holly four. Hawkins got two yards off tackle. Brewster buckled for one and on the next play, Sandvik hit the tackle slot and rolled in for the tally. Ridge Appleton's try for the extra point fell short.

Mount Holly's bid to retaliate was cut short by an over-the-shoulder interception engineered by Bruce Sandvik shortly before the half ended. The victors' domination in the first two periods was reflected in the statistics: nine first downs to two, and eight of 15 passes completed, by none for the Red Devils. In addition, the latter had two of their four aerial attempts intercepted.

Lower Dominant Second Half.
Mount Holly launched its first serious bid following a punt exchange in the third period. Starting from their own 49, the Red Devils reeled up three quick first downs, moving to the PHS 14. The march was halted when Joe Beachel, reserve end for the Blue and Whites, spilled the Mount Holly ball carrier for a loss on fourth down.

In the last period, a blocked punt off Hawkins' toe gave the losers possession on the Little Tiger 19. Three plays brought the touchdown, halfback Al Louier running eight yards through the middle for the score.

In the closing minutes, the visitors drove from their 47 to the PHS 23, where they had a first down but less than a minute left. An aerial was incomplete and on the last play of the game, Captain Dave Kilgore spilled the passer and caused a fumble behind the line of scrimmage.

HUN BUST BY INJURIES

Twelve Regulars sidelined. A rash of minor injuries has been plaguing Coach Hawley Waterman's Hun eleven before its opening game with the Pennington Prep this Saturday. Twelve regulars on his first two teams have been working out only in sweat suits, Waterman reported.

"We haven't even been able to practice our passing because our starting quarterback, John Kefler, can't throw," Waterman reported. Underlining his plight is the injured Paul Kadlic, star halfback and the other Hun passer who is just now recovering from a sore back.

Gary Grover, a halfback from Princeton, is one of the dozen injured Huns. Grover has "leg and shoulder trouble". Two other Princeton boys who are likely to see plenty of action this year are end Pat Donahue and Paul Siegler, a guard.

Also on the injured list is co-captain John Ward, starting fullback from Minnesota. FAM Waterman's starting backfield, then, only halfback Al Landis, is ready to go.

Fortunately the line is much less injury-riddled than the backfield. Most of the injuries are not serious and Coach Waterman expects to be close to full strength for Saturday's opener. The game will be played at Pennington, starting at 2. Last year, Hun romped over this opponent, 30 to 0.

The tentative Hun lineup:

Pat Donahue and Pete Savidge, ends; Harold Johnson and Dave Savidge, Tackles; Dick Freeman and Jim Stewart, guards; John Finney, center. In the backfield, John Kefler, quarterback; Paul Kadlic and either Gil Gilman or Gary Grover, halfbacks; and John Ward, fullback.

LAWRENCEVILLE TO OPEN
On Saturday at Home, Lawrenceville School's varsity football team will open its seven-game schedule against Perkiomen School at 2:30 on Saturday at Lawrenceville.

The rest of the slate includes Mercersburg Academy, October 10; Blair Academy at Blairstown, October 17; Peddie, October 24; Admiral Farragut Academy, October 31; Choate at Wallingford, Conn., November 7, and Hill School, November 13. All games begin at 2:30.

BOWLING NOTES

"A" Loop Deadlocked. Two-way ties developed in each of the first six slots in the "A" League at Princeton Recreation Center this week. Shelton Motors, four games off the mark a week ago, added six victories to tie Deckers Dairy, 14-14, for first place. Kase Kleeners and Hult's Shoes are deadlocked at 12-all in the second slot, while Farr Hardware and Grover Lumber (10 each) are battling for third.

In the Industrial League, Tiger Garage (12) added six wins to unseat last week's league-leader, Wengryn Construction (11). Cres-

JACK HAWKINS
Princeton High Tailback

A revenge-minded team is always tough to beat, particularly when it is a stronger outfit than it was a year ago. Accordingly, Princeton High School coach Joe Jorgoli knew he'd have his hands full when his Little Tigers opened last week against the Red Devils of Mount Holly.

By the end of the first half, Jorgoli couldn't quite afford to relax but the situation was apparently well in hand. Out on the field, triple-threat Jack Hawkins had taken charge in a manner that was highly satisfactory. In the first two periods, he had completed eight of 13 passes, scored the first touchdown and gained valuable yardage that had helped set off the second TD.

The 18-year-old senior hadn't been a PHS student long when his athletic ability began to show. He won his first varsity letter in baseball as a freshman, and the following fall caught the touchdown pass that beat Trenton High for the Mercer County championship. He was a letter-winner that year in football and has since become a three-sport athlete by winning awards as well for his play in basketball.

A year ago, Hawkins was a wingback for PHS, but this month he made the conversion to the more demanding tailback slot the position that puts wheels under the single wing offense. When the opposition has the ball, Hawkins holds down the vital safety position, one that places added importance on both speed and good judgment.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Hawkins of 86 Longview Drive, Jack has college in mind for the future but has made no definite decision. For the present, he has his sights set on the 1959 football schedule at PHS and on plans to help carry the Little Tigers to a winning season.

Indicative of his hard play is the fact that he lost a tooth in the Mount Holly game, an experience he'd just as soon not repeat for every victory that goes into the book. Win or lose, however, he'll be hard at it, and Princeton High seems sure to benefit.

ents and Dayton Five are tied for third place with 10 victories apiece. Belle Meade (14) is in control of the Tri-County Veterans League, trailed by Kingston (12) and Mercer No. 3, Lawrenceville and Hook and Ladder "B" (10 each).

Tiger Bus, Jefferson Plumbing and Cifelli Electric are knotted at 11 wins each in the "B" loop. Other contenders are Prince Laundromat (12), Walker Gordon (10) and Sportsmen No. 2 (8).

In the Princeton Women's League, Cranbury Bank (16) leads, followed by Amron Homes (11), Clarksville Diner (11) and Nassau Bookery and Tiger Bus (10 each). Nassau Service, with 22 triumphs, is well ahead of second-place Forsythe Country Club (18) in the Women's Industrial loop. Cifelli Electric (16) is third.

Notable individual scores: Bill Barnes, 211; Charles Perpetua, 208; and Dave Burnham, 201, in the "A" League; Walt Wengryn, 237; Herbert Irshad, 213; and Andy Drummond, 211, in the Industrial League; Frank Stofko, 220; Joe Dorfart, 214; and Nelson Davidson, 211-201, in the Firemen's loop.

Also, Nick Sculartzi, 222-196-181 (609), and George Solis and Larry Golden, 207 each, in the "B" League; Ann Simmons, 196; and Barbara Dancer, 183, in the Princeton Women's League. Miss Dancer's 204-184 was the week's high two-game series, the Women's Industrial League.

For Laymen

For almost a decade, the churches of the Princeton area have sponsored a School of Christian Life and Leadership designed for laymen who want to learn more about their faith, either for teaching purposes or to enrich their own understanding.

This year, the School will be held from October 15 through November 12 on the campus of Princeton Theological Seminary, one of the sponsoring institutions. (The others are the Princeton Pastors' Association, churches in the Princeton area, and the Council of Churches of Greater Trenton.)

The Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church will give a course in "The Meaning of Protestant Worship" and Dr. George S. Hendry of Princeton Seminary will give a course in "The Church in the Bible." Other courses will be conducted with church history and various practical aspects of church work.

CHARLES WAS A happy, 4-year-old youngster who was very bright and active and completely normal in every way except for one thing: he never spoke, and he had never even tried to speak.

Naturally his parents were worried. They took Charles to psychiatrists and nose-and-throat doctors and specialists of all kinds. None could figure it out. They even had his intelligence tested. It was 105.

But still Charles didn't speak. His 3rd and 4th birthdays passed and still not a word. His parents tried everything; nothing worked and they began to give up hope.

On Charles' 7th birthday his parents gave him a big map of the world, with the continents, oceans and geographical features, and they felt that he would enjoy having the map on his wall to give up hope.

Charles unrolled the map, looked at it and frowned. Then he turned to his mother and said: "Mother, would you please take the map from the wall and put it in the Little Gallery?"

"Of course!" his mother gasped. "Yes, I'll do it right away. Right now if you wish." She couldn't believe what she heard. But Charles said: "Yes, why have you waited until now to speak?"

"Well, Mother," Charles explained, "until now everything was perfect."

IT'S NO GAMBLE!

Play "Rouge et Noir." A new version of that old "rouge et noir" comes to Edith's Lingerie Shop in the form of a louncing ensemble embellished with the emblems of the world's most famous gambling resorts. And four acres besides.

The group is composed of pieces which are made of red and black quilted nylon or nylon tricot. There's a red tricot gown labelled "Palm Springs," "Las Vegas," or "Monte Carlo," and a black, red-lined quilted coat with four acres emerging, not from the sleeve, but from the pocket.

Lounging pajamas have very tight legs all the way to the ankle, with red relet labels arched against the black. There's a short matching jacket, and a short white nylon overblouse embroidered with dice, roulette wheels and three labels. Black nylon

Slip on a Robe

At Edith's this fall, you find robes for every hour and mood of the day. We liked a reversible which seems to be designed on both sides for a cheerful approach to breakfast.

You turn the robe back and forth just as you'd vary your recipe for scrambled eggs. On one side, coral or aqua corduroy, (the robe, not the eggs); on the other, a grey and white cotton print. Pockets, round collar and buttons.

For the other end of the day, Edith's has a sumptuous thing of napper jersey in a brilliant Persian print. It has a zipper which sweeps down the front through a wide, dancing-girl skirt, all the way to the floor. The neck is a deep V and there is a wide red belt.

In between, you might try on a robe of orlon and nylon fleece, fluted and cut to waft or fall length. It comes in white with two small red velvet bows at the waist and a red mock monogram, or in mustard with green, turquoise with gold.

and lace-ruffle panties, complete with four acres, round out the collection.

More informal lounging can be done in a one-piece corduroy suit with three-quarter knee pants, drawstring waist and three-quarter sleeves.

Gowns for winter at Edith's begin with a selection of four GIFTS appropriate to the season. Dress over today!

knit fleece gown has long skirt and sleeves and even a wide round collar to keep your shoulders warm.

In the foundation department, Edith likes — and so would anyone — Lily of France's Brasselette, a hink lace confection with strapless top, a very, very low back and a bottom edge that shows about six inches higher than a full-length girdle. It's quite a garment, quite a garment.

Lily also mixes Queen of Diamonds, a panty or full girdle made of overlapping double diamonds for extra strength. With it, try Lily's strapless bra with Velcro elastic-cross closing.

Warner has a duPont (i.e., synthetic) elastic bra which will last through innumerable washings and dryings without deterioration because it's tougher than rubber. The same house uses elastic mesh on both sides, and underneath the cup of a new bra for "give." Costs $2.50 in white cotton.

Neighborhood Market. For 30 years J. Edward Hawley has been in the wholesale mail business (serving, among others, 12 of Princeton's undergraduate clubs). He has now extended his services to include retail sales and has opened a neighborhood store on Waterman at 337, just above Valley Road School on the corner of Guyot.

Here, because it's a neighborhood store, he carries the necessities you always run out of at the last minute, and certain specialties you always need to make a particularly memorable meal.

If you have a big family, you will find Hawley's especially convenient as a shopping center because you can buy Heinz products here by case lot. Mr. Hawley will mix and match for you, so that your case may consist, if you wish, of soup, relishes, spaghetti, beans and so on.

On his shelves, also, are the "Shoe-Fly" products of the Pennsylvania Dutch Food Corporation. — Continued on Page 8

OLDE DEERFIELDE

by KLING

Mondays and
until 9 p.m.

The cleanly handsome lines of authentic American Colonial... in the SOLID hard maple that only long Northern winters can produce. That's Olde Deerfield, our new bedroom styling from Kling.

Olde Deerfield has a satisfying simplicity that will grow upon you as each year passes—and it blends tastefully with whatever is basically sound in traditional or contemporary room furnishing.

Typical of the fine workmanship built into Kling's Olde Deerfield is its new finish color, Buckwheat Brown. Kling craftsmen use 17 separate finishing operations to achieve this tone. We will not describe this color. You must see it... soon.

Our tale of a new type of house that provides more space for less bucks is dull stuff for mansion dwellers. But if you're not averse to spending money wisely and you rather like the idea of plenty of room and light and air—inside as well as out, then let's talk. We'd like to explain and show you our concept of a new type of light-hearted living that we deeply believe in—the Techbuilt House.

New Custom-Built Southern Colonial

2-Story Southern Colonial - majestically sitting in a group of lovely old trees atop a knoll with its 2 story white columns on a 40 foot portico against a background of old brick is a picture home one must see. 4 oversized bedrooms - 2 baths and a beautifully appointed guest powder room - large living room with a fireplace - mahogany paneled library - full dining room separate breakfast room - fully equipped kitchen with all birch cabinets and a large laundry and utility room - also a full basement. This home priced at $47,500 is Princeton's biggest bargain.

This home is custom-built in the true sense of the word with an eye to the finite details that go to make for a truly custom home, and of course, provisions were made for complete air-conditioning. The house is on a lot of over an acre, completely and individually landscaped has an oversized two-car garage. This home is priced well below the market.

Open House — Saturdays and Sundays 1:30 - 5:00 P.M., or can be seen by appointment. Just 'phone New York City, Oxford 7-3646 (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) or Princeton, Walnut 1-6592 (Eve.) or contact your own broker.

HOME with attractive paneling, open beams and three fireplaces. Two wideside lounge chairs. $48,500

One of our most meticulous builders has recently purchased four small homes on the west side of Princeton. It is his intention to completely remodel and redecorate each of these homes in the manner of the best Georgetown homes in Washington, D.C.

Each home will have a living-dining room combination with fireplace, kitchen, study and bath on the first floor. Three bedrooms and bath on the second floor, city utilities and a tiny garden overlooking the Graduate College.

The houses are in an area of fine homes. It is a most convenient location within pleasant walking distance of Nassau Street.

If you have been longing for a delightful small home in town with care and maintenance reduced to a minimum, perhaps this is the answer.

Call anytime and arrange to stop in at the office and leisurely inspect the proposed plan.
